Northeast monsoon may set in around October 17

Most parts of State likely to get rain today

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT (Chennai)

The northeast monsoon, which provides major share of rainfall to Tamil Nadu, is likely to set in around October 17.

There may be an increase in rainfall in the State from October 15, according to the India Meteorological Department. The prolonged southwest monsoon will come to an end in two days over the southern parts of the country. Officials said usually, the north monsoon sets in around October 20, but, a deviation of seven days before or after this date is considered normal.

Changes in wind path

N. P. Venkatarangan, director, Area Cyclone Warning Centre, said wind direction had changed from westerly to easterly at low level over the State. This would strengthen in the coming days. Easterly winds driven trough would usher in the monsoon this year. Rainfall activity may begin on October 15 and become widespread across the State from October 16. Most parts of the State may get light to moderate rain and one or two places heavy rain, he said.

Officials recalled that the South Asian Climate Outlook Forum has predicted a normal monsoon over the southern peninsula this year. Chennai has a chance of getting light rain till Wednesday. The maximum temperature would be around 34 degree Celsius.

Framing laws for outer space

It is imperative that India's legal prowess be applied to the situational complexities of space exploration

SHEETERA S & SUDHARTH KAPOOR

Recently it was reported that the “world’s first space crime” may have been committed by a NASA intern, Anne McClain. She is suspected of signing into the personal bank account of her estranged spouse from a computer aboard the International Space Station (ISS). The law which is applicable to the case is the International Space Station Inter-Governmental Agreement (IGA). The drafters of this agreement had made provisions to meet such a contingency. Article 22 of the Agreement concerns itself with criminal jurisdiction and states that countries which are mentioned in the agreement may exercise criminal jurisdiction over persons in flights who are their respective nationals. Hence, the laws of the U.S. will be applicable to this situation concerning the first space crime.
